

Press release

The exhibition halls of the Civic Gallery of Modern Art "Giuseppe Sciortino" - former Benedictine Monastery Monreale hosts, from March 21 to March 29 2015, 250 works by Italian and foreign artists.

The occasion is linked to the international event "Prize Wilhelm II". The event, promoted and sponsored by the City of Monreale, is created with the help of EA Editore and will show more than 30 represented countries.

An artistic event, which will be recognized in Monreale and in whole Sicily, as a fulcrum of unity among peoples. This exhibition highlights the importance of creativity as a main tool of freedom and emancipation, shown through the association between various representatives of the contemporary art scene. An exhibition, which tends to emphasize the value of equality and the protection of individual rights, in a highly creative way.

On March 21, 17.00, the Council Chamber will host the awards ceremony and inauguration. The City of Monreale, represented by Mayor Peter Capizzi, the Councilor for Promotion of the Territory, Dr. Ignazio Zuccaro and Councilor of Culture, Dr. Joseph Cangemi, will give the prize to the artists and prominent personalities in the world of culture in Monreale.

Speakers: The Mayor of Monreale Dr. Peter Capizzi, the Councilor for Promotion of the territory, Ignazio Zuccaro, the Head of Culture Dr. Joseph Cangemi, the publisher Sandro Serradifalco, the director of the Civic Gallery "G. Sciortino", Prof. Salvatore Autovino, the art critic Salvatore Russo, President of the International Movement for Justice and protection of Human Rights, Prof. Paul Calabrese.

The exhibited works are published in a catalog published by EA Publisher of Palermo.
